RED RIVER JOURNEY

FEATURED EXHIBITS

STEAMBOAT HEROINE

On May 6, 1839, the Heroine was navigating the Red River on its way to deliver much-needed supplies to the soldiers at Fort Towson when it hit a snag and quickly sank. The passengers survived, but the supplies and the ship were lost. In 1999, the Oklahoma Historical Society was notified that the remains of a ship had been exposed. The majority of the superstructure of the Heroine had long since disintegrated, but the surviving components were used to build this unique exhibit.

RODGERS AND HAMMERSTEIN’S OKLAHOMA!

Rodgers and Hammerstein’s Oklahoma!: The Birth of Modern Musical Theatre and a New Image for the State celebrates the 75th anniversary of the Broadway production’s debut. Oklahoma! was the first musical written by the legendary team of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II. Rodgers and Hammerstein’s Oklahoma! began a new era in American musical theatre, as well as the most successful songwriting partnership that Broadway has ever seen.

PAWNEE STAR CHART

The ONEOK, Inc. Gallery represents all 38 federally recognized American Indian tribes currently associated with Oklahoma. The star chart showcased in the center of the gallery is derived from the sky band of the Pawnee Tribe. This image, which originated from a sacred bundle at the Chicago Field Museum, was used by the Pawnee for everything from predicting when to hunt and when to perform certain ceremonies to telling the origin story of the Pawnee people.
