

EDWARD P. MCCABE (1850-1920)

Mr. McCabe was a man with a dream. He wanted to make Oklahoma a safe place for African Americans to live. He and a friend, Charles Robbins, created the town of Langston, OK. He also helped start a college that African Americans could attend. It was first called the Oklahoma Colored Agricultural and Normal College. It is now called Langston University. He started a newspaper named the Langston City Herald.
