

ZELIA BREAUX (1880-1956)

Mrs. Breaux was a very good music teacher and business woman. She started the music department at Douglass High School in Oklahoma City. Her high school band classes were always very good. In 1933, they played on national radio at the Chicago World's Fair. In 1936, her band class played at the Texas Centennial celebration in Dallas, Texas. She also owned the Aldridge Theater where famous shows were held.
