

FREDERICK DOUGLASS MOON (1896-1975)

Mr. Moon helped thousands of students through school. He taught or served as principal at schools in Crescent, Wewoka and Oklahoma City for forty years. He promoted building Douglass High School in 1954. It was the first new high school for African Americans in Oklahoma City. In 1974, Mr. Moon was the first African American to serve as president of the Oklahoma City Board of Education.