The National Archives – National Archives and Records Service – General Services Administration – Washington: 1941 – Letter Book of the Creek Trading House, 1795-1816

Introduction

On this single roll of microfilm is reproduced one volume of handwritten copies of letters sent by the agent of the trading house for the Creek Indians from 1795-1816

The Constitution of the United States vested authority in the Congress to regulate commerce with Indian tribes. Between 1795 and 1822 the U. S. Government established and operated a series of trading houses to supply Indians with manufactured goods in exchange for skins and furs. On Mar. 3, 1795, the Congress appropriated a sum not to exceed $150,000.00 and authorized the President to establish trading houses on the western and southern frontiers, or in the Indian country (1 Stat. 452). The capital was increased to $260,000.00 by an act of Apr. 21, 1806 (2 Stat. 402), and to $300,000.00 by an act of Mar. 3, 1809 (2 Stat 544).

Each trading house was under the immediate charge of an agent appointed specifically to direct commerce with the Indians. The Secretary of War had general supervisory control over the trading houses, but from 1806-1822 they were administered by the Superintendent of Indian Trade, who was responsible to the Secretary. The trading houses were often referred to as factories and their agents as factors.

The main intent of the factory system was to foster friendly relations with the Indians by regulating their trade. The prices of goods supplied to Indians at the factories were set to maintain the original capital rather than to secure a profit for the Government. At the same time, private trade with the Indians was still permitted under the licensing system regulated by the Secretary of War and the superintendents and agents serving under him.

The skins and furs obtained from the Indians were shipped to large cities and sold. The act of 1806 specified that peltries be offered at public auction in different parts of the United States in proportion to the demand of the market. A minimum of six annual public sales were to be held with no more than two in any State for a given year. Subsequent laws repealed these provisions and gave the Superintendent of Indian Trade the option to dispose of the peltries through auction or other means.

The factory system was abolished in 1822, but it took several years to liquidate its affairs.

The factory for the Creek Indians was authorized in Nov. 1875. Sometimes called the Georgia Factory but better known by the names of its successive locations, the factory operated longer than any other Government trading house. Edward Price, its first factor, arrived at Colerain on the St. Mary's River in southern Georgia to open the factory on Jan. 6, 1796. After 18 months at Colerain the factory was ordered closed by Price while he was in Savannah on business, and in July 1797 it was moved to Fort Wilkinson on the west side of the Oconee River. Price died early 1799, and his successor, Edward Wright, arrived at Fort Wilkinson on May 21, 1799. Wright continued as factor until replaced by Jonathan Halsted on Apr. 1, 1802. In Sep. 1806 the factory was transferred to Ocmulgee Old Fields and after 1809 was known as the Fort Hawkins factory.

After Halsted's death on Dec. 21, 1814, Charles Magnan, the assistant factor, was in charge of the trading house until Major Daniel Hughes became factor in the spring of 1816. Even before Hughes' appointment, however, consideration had been given to closing the factory because of business losses over the past several years. The Office of Indian Trade noted that the changed habits of the Creeks made it difficult to support the factory. Charles Magnan observed that the Indians were willing to sell skins for half value at military posts in their nation and to accept double price for goods in return rather than travel the distance to the factory; as an alternative, he suggested removal of the factory to Fort Gaines, south of Fort Mitchell on the Chattahoochee River, which was closer to the Creek lands. Conditions at Fort Hawkins did not improve after Hughes assumed charge. Consequently, on Sep. 10, 1816, the factor was directed to move the trading house to Fort Mitchell and to utilize the Fort Hawkins buildings for storage.

It was not until well into 1817 that the Fort Mitchell site was actually ready for the trade. It was apparent, however, by the spring of the next year that the factory was not showing the expected revival of business at its new location. Faced with the possibility of having to close the factory, Hughes was told in June 1818 to give attention to the prospect of selling the entire establishment with the exception of the grounds. On Aug. 16, 1819, as a result of the President's decision to continue the factory, Hughes was notified to proceed with the sale.

Concerned that the factory would fall into the hands of unwelcomed whites, the Indians asked Agent David B. Mitchell to purchase it on their account. After months of delay the factory was sold to the Indians on Jan. 29, 1820. Meanwhile, the factor had permanently closed the trading house.

The outgoing correspondence copied into the letter book reproduced on this microfilm publication was to officials in charge of the factory for the Creeks and the Purveyor of Public Supplies, the Keeper of Military Stores, the Agent for Indian Factories, the Principal Agent for Indian Factories, the Superintendent of Indian Trade, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Indian Agent for the Creeks, Army Officers, Merchants, and others. In addition to documenting the regular trading business at the factory, the letter book also contains information about the kinds of goods needed for the trade, shipment of trade goods and peltry, competition with private traders, relations with the military, and conditions among the Indians. The arrangement is roughly chronological by date of letter.

The letter book reproduced in this publication is part of the records in the National Archives designated as Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Record Group 75. Microfilm publications containing related records from the same record group are: Letters Sent by the Superintendent of Indian Trade, 1807-1823 (M16), Letters Received by the Superintendent of Indian Trade, 1806-1824 (T58), Letters Sent by the Secretary of War Relating to Indian Affairs, 1800-1824 (M15), and Letters Received by the Office of the Secretary of War Relating to Indian Affairs, 1800-1823 (M271).

Records for other U. S. Government trading houses have also been microfilmed as Letter Book of the Arkansas Trading House, 1805-1810 (M142) and Records of the Choctaw Trading House, 1803-1825 (T500).

Also in Record Group 75 are other records of the factory for the Creeks: Correspondence, 1795-1814, daybooks, 1799-1820, journal and ledger, 1796-1797, ledger and journal, 1796-1802, journals, 1801-1820, ledgers, 1798-1820, journal of transactions with Benjamin Hawkins, 1808-1814, ledger of Hawkins' accounts, 1808-1814, vouchers, 1796-1821, miscellaneous accounts, 1795-1801. There is also one volume of letters sent by the Officer of Superintendent of Indian Trade (in liquidation), 1822-1830.

These introductory remarks were written by Richard C. Crawford.

- ◆ Instructions to Edward Prince: Nov. 26, 1795
  - The instructions reproduced below are essentially identical to those issued on the same date to James Byers, Jr., the first factor at Tellico Blockhouse. The reproduction is made from what is presumably the Secretary of War's record copy, which appears in a volume of letters and instructions to the factors of the Indian Trading Houses from their establishment to Feb. 27, 1800 (see the preceding introduction, p. iv, note 1). There is an undated and unsigned copy of the same instructions in Price's hand among the loose papers of the Creek Trading House.
- ◆ Instructions to Captain William Eaton: Nov. 26, 1795
  - The following is a reproduction of a "true copy" made by Captain Eaton of his instructions from the Secretary of War. It is among the loose papers of the Creek Trading House. The military post established at Colerain was known as Fort Pickering.

◆ Tompkins Roll: 1867

- On the single roll of this microfilm publication is reproduced the 1867 Census of the Citizens and Freedmen of the Cherokee Nation taken by H. Tompkins as directed by N. G. Taylor, Commissioner of Indian Affairs by letter dated July 6, 1867. The enumeration consists of the nine Cherokee Districts. There are Going Snake, Delaware, Flint, Sequoyah, Cooweescoowee, Tahlequah, Saline, Canadian, and Illinois District which are bound into four volumes.
- This census was taken as a result of the 12th Article of the Treaty of July 19th, 1866, which states that the Cherokee agreed to a general council consisting of delegates elected by each nation or tribe lawfully residing in Indian Territory, which would convene annually in the territory and that the council would be organized and possess powers as prescribed by the Treaty. It further provided that after the ratification of the treaty (which occurred July 27, 1866) and as soon as deemed practical by the Secretary of the Interior and prior to the first session of the council, a census or enumeration of each tribe lawfully resident in the territory would be taken under the direction of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. The commissioner was authorized to designate and appoint competent persons, whose compensation would be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior and paid by the United States. The purpose of the census was to affix the number of delegates to the General Council. The council was to consist of a delegate for each tribe, plus an additional delegate for each 1,000 members or each fraction of a thousand greater than five hundred.
- The roll is unique in that it appears to be the first post-Civil War enumeration of the Cherokee Citizens and Freedmen West of the Mississippi River. The census indicates the name (usually Indian), age, sex, and whether the individual was Indian, white, half-breed (blood), or black. Each district is followed by a recapitulation. The census is not indexed.

Federal Archives and Records Center – Washington, D. C. – Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Group 75: Dunn Rolls of 1867 and 1869 (Citizens and Freedmen of the Creek Nation)

Introduction

On the single roll of this microfilm publication are reproduced an 1867 Per Capita Receipt Roll of the citizens of the Creek Nation as Taken by J. W. Dunn, Indian Agent for the Creek Indians and an 1869 Creek Freedmen Receipt Roll and Index. The Creek Freedmen were enumerated prior to Mar. 14, 1867 by J. W. Dunn, but were denied payment at that time because of their "African Descent." They did not receive payment until 1869. The Freedmen roll is in two volumes. Volume one is an alphabetical index to the roll and volume two is the receipt roll.

The receipt rolls were made as a result of the third article of the Treaty of June 14, 1866, whereby the Creek Indians ceded an estimated 3,250,560 acres of land which comprised the western half of their entire domain to the United States which paid the tribe thirty cents per acre. Two-hundred thousand dollars of the total payment of $975,168.00 was set aside by the Treaty as a per capita payment to enable the Creeks to occupy, restore, and improve their farms, to make their nation self-sustaining, to pay the damages sustained by the mission schools on the North Fork and Arkansas Rivers, and to pay the expenses of the treaty delegates.

The rolls are unique in that they appear to be the first surviving post-Civil War enumeration of the Creek citizens and Creek Freedmen west of the Mississippi River. The roll of the Creek citizens probably includes the Loyal Creeks who returned to their home lands after the Civil War. This roll appears to be an original. It is arranged by towns and thereunder by family groups which are numbered successively within the townships. The following information is given: the name of the head of the household, names of other members in the family, total number in the family, and the amount of the individual payment. Each of the 9,771 individuals listed received $17.34 each making a payment of $169,429.14. On the final page of this roll is a certification by W. Byers, Superintendent of Indian Affairs for the Southern Superintendency, listing the total amount paid per capita, the amount paid to the mission schools, and the amount paid to the treaty delegates. The Creek Freedmen roll is a certified copy prepared by D. M. Browning, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, on June 27, 1894 and filed with the Dawes Commission on Dec. 1, 1897 for authentication. Many entries were made by the Dawes Commission on this copy. Notations were made next to the names of individuals who died prior to Apr. 1, 1899. The roll is arranged by district and thereunder by family group.

Families are numbered sequentially within the districts. The roll indicates the individual roll number, the name of the head of the household, the number in the family, the amount of each individual payment, and the total amount received by the head of the household. The names of other members of the household are listed below the head of the household within each family group. Each of the 1,791 individuals listed received $17.34 making a total payment of $30,882.54.

Pages that are no longer legible due to tape discoloration have been copied and the copies have been filmed immediately after the original pages.

The Dunn Rolls are a part of the records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Record Group 75. In this same record group are other documents relating to this per capita payment.

The records reproduced in this microfilm publication were prepared for filming by Thelma Defrates who also wrote these introductory remarks.

The records contained herein have been reproduced in this form by the Federal Archives and Records Center, Fort Worth, Texas to make them readily available for use by the staff and general public. This microfilm has not been distributed as a National Archives Publication.

Federal Archives and Records Center – Fort Worth, TX – Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Group 75: Cherokee Census of 1880, Residents of the Cherokee Nation (Roll 1 of 4)

- ◆ Index to 1880 Roll of Cherokees
  - The census consisted of six schedules for each of the nine Cherokee Districts (Canadian, Cooweescoowee, Delaware, Flint, Going Snake, Illinois, Saline, Sequoyah, and Tahlequah). Schedule three for Cooweescoowee District is incomplete. The Schedules are: Schedule 1 – Citizens of the Cherokee Nation, Schedule 2 – Orphans under 16 years of age, Schedule 3 – Persons not recognized as citizens of the Cherokee Nation and whose claims to citizenship have been adversely decided by the Cherokee Authority, Schedule 4 – Persons not recognized as citizens of the Cherokee Nation who claim right to citizenship and whose cases have not been heard, Schedule 5 – “Intruders” i.e. persons not recognized as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and Schedule 6 – Persons legally residing in the Cherokee Nation that are not recognized as Cherokee Citizens but are under permit of the Cherokee Nation or the United States.
  - Information listed on the census varies among the schedules, generally the names of the individuals, their age, sex, nativity, marital status, and occupation is given, other information pertaining to acreage of land, improvements and agricultural products is listed on Schedule 1. Notations concerning family relationships have been entered in the “remarks” column.
  - This transcript was used by the Dawes Commission for verification of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation for purposes of allotment of land in severalty. Notations made by the Dawes Commission include Dawes Enrollment Card Numbers, Dawes Denied Card Numbers, and information concerning other enrollments of the individuals. The notation “dead” is stamped beside the names of individuals who were deceased at the time of enrollment for land allotment.

- The census is unique in that it was used by the Dawes Commission and in that it appears to be the first enumeration of “white settlers” and “state negroes” made in the Cherokee Nation. The 1880 census was used as a basis for a per capita payment of $16.55 made to the citizens of the Cherokee Nation for breadstuffs, the payment was authorized by an act of the Cherokee National Council of Dec. 31, 1879.

7RA8.1

Federal Archives and Records Center – Fort Worth, TX – Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Group 75: Cherokee Census of 1890, Residents of the Cherokee Nation (Roll 1 of 6).

- ◆ Cherokee Census of 1890, Schedule 1, Part 1
  - Copied from microfilm: In Article III, Section 3 of the Nov. 28, 1866 Amendment to the Constitution of the Cherokee Nation, the Cherokees provided for the enumeration of a Census in 1870 and at ten year intervals thereafter. On Dec. 6, 1889, the Cherokee National Council passed “An Act Authorizing the Taking of the Census of the Cherokee Nation in the Year 1890.” Compiled by Cherokee Officials, the 1890 Census included a tabulation of all persons within the Nation and served as the bases for a reapportionment of district representation to the National Council. The 1889 law instructed tribal officials to indicate the citizenship status of residents by placing their names on the appropriate pre-printed schedule. In each of the nine districts, special committees reviewed the schedules, adding to or deleting names from the citizenship rolls for their regions. In 1890 and 1891, the National Council again used the census in the distribution of Per Capita Payments of $300,000 received from grazing fees on Cherokee Lands West of the Arkansas River.
  - In 1900, the Dawes Commission used the census to evaluate the eligibility of Cherokee citizens for individual land allotments. After the Dawes Commission completed their task, they delivered the census to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The Bureau held the census until May 28, 1972, when it was accessioned into the National Archives as part of Record Group 75.
  - Schedule 1 includes names of those persons residing in the Cherokee Nation entitled to and enjoying citizenship.

- In Schedule 1, information supplied by the census includes place of birth, race, age, sex, occupation, marital status, number of dwellings, farms, acreage, improvements made, crop production, and other social and economic data.
- The 1890 census includes valuable demographic information and a substantial quantity of social and economic data. A comparison between the 1880 and 1890 censuses reflects important changes within the Cherokee Nation. The 1880 census has also been microfilmed (7RA07).
- Although they usually recorded the names of all individuals, in schedules 3 through 6, the census takers occasionally listed only heads of families, followed by the number of people in each household.

Federal Archives and Records Center – Fort Worth, TX – Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Group 75: Records of the Osage Agency – Records of the Osage Allotting Commission (1 of 2)

The Osage Allotting Commission was organized on Aug. 14, 1906, in accordance with an act of Congress of June 28, 1906 (34 Stat. 339) which provided for allotting land in severalty to the members of the Osage tribe. The three member commission supervised surveys of the Osage reservation, investigated claims of fraudulent enrollment, and conducted hearings on contested allotments. Each of the 2230 individuals listed on the Osage tribal roll approved by the secretary of Interior on Apr. 1, 1908, selected three 140 acre tracts. The remaining unallotted land was divided equally among the 2230 enrolled members of the tribe which provided each individual with a total allotment of approximately 657 acres. On Mar. 31, 1909, the commission was abolished by the Secretary of Interior who directed the superintendent of the Osage Agency to take custody of the records and complete any unfinished business. See entry 610 of Preliminary Inventory 163 for reports of the commission and related enrollment records.

7RA201.1

Federal Archives and Records Center – Fort Worth, TX – Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Group 75: Records of the Osage Agency – Records of the Land and Realty Division Survey Field Notes, 1870 (1 of 7)

The Osages purchased the Land for their reservation from the Cherokees in 1872 with title held by the United States in trust for the entire tribe. Although individual ownership of Land was not authorized until the allotment act of June 28, 1906 (34 Stat. 539), Osages were encouraged in 1890 to file claims to 160 acre homesteads. By 1894, the majority of the land on the reservation had been claimed and it had become common practice for Osages to rent their Land to white farmers in exchange for a portion of the crops raised. In 1902, a “division” consisting of several fulltime clerks was established within the agency to supervise leasing operations. This unit increased in size and assumed new functions as a result of the allotment act of 1906 which also authorized the sale of “surplus land” under regulations prescribed by the Department of Interior. The designation of the unit responsible for transactions involving real property varied periodically until 1942 when a Land and realty Division was established. This division supervised the sale and exchange of property and the issuance of leases, provided assistance in the payment of taxes, coordinated the issuance of insurance, and participated in suits to partition property. The records described below have been grouped by function or type rather than by the name of the unit responsible for their creation.

The only information given for each land subdivision is the legal description of the land (range, township, section, and degrees), unusual landmarks, and a brief abstract of the land’s condition and types of trees located within the surveyed area.

- ◆ Records of the Choctaw-Chickasaw Citizenship Court
  - Both the Choctaw and Chickasaw tribal governments strongly objected to the enrollment activities of the Dawes Commission. Section 31 of an act of Congress of July 1, 1902 (32 Stat. 641), established a Choctaw-Chickasaw Citizenship Court (CCCC) and authorized either tribe to file a bill in equity before the court to seek annulment of decisions that had been made by the United States District Courts in the Indian Territory under an act of June 10, 1896 (29 Stat. 321). President Roosevelt appointed Spencer B. Adams, Henry S. Foote, and Walter L. Weaver to the CCCC, which rendered a decision on Dec. 17, 1902 in the case of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations or Tribes v. J. T. Riddle, et.al., which vacated all judgments of the U. S. District Courts for the Central and Southern Districts of the Indian Territory. Persons involved in those decisions were required to institute proceedings in the CCCC to regain enrollment. Cases originating in the U. S. District Court for the Central District were heard by the CCCC at South McAlester and cases from the Southern District at Tishomingo.

- An act of Congress of Mar. 3, 1903 (32 Stat. 982), provided for the termination of the Choctaw-Chickasaw Citizenship Court on Dec. 31, 1904 and the transfer of all records to the Dawes Commission. The CCCC eventually heard 256 cases involving 3487 people admitted only 161 to citizenship. See Loren N. Brown, "The Choctaw-Chickasaw Court Citizens," The Chronicles of Oklahoma (Vol. 16, Number 4).
- ◆ 1041 Case Files: 1902-1904

There are also some genealogical reports, a "family tree," and a few papers relating to the appointments and resignation of court personnel.

National Archives M21 Series

M21.1

The National Archives – Records of the Office of Indian Affairs – Letters Sent, 1824-1861

Introductory Note

The Sixty-five volume of letter books which comprise this microcopy contain transcripts of the outgoing communications of the Office of Indian Affairs from 1824, when it was established as a bureau in the War Department, to 1861. In 1849, the Office was transferred to the newly established Department of the Interior, but this transfer produced no important change in the manner of keeping records and no break in the letter book series. Prior to 1824, Indian affairs had been administered directly by the Secretary of War, and copies of outgoing communications relating to Indian matters from 1800 – in which year earlier records were destroyed by fire – to 1824 are to be found in a separate letter book series of the Secretary of War, the six volumes of which have been reproduced by the National Archives as File Microcopy No. 15. Also, from 187 to 1822, the conduct of trade with the Indian tribes was under the separate jurisdiction of a Superintendent of Indian Trade. Transcripts of the outgoing communications of this official, in another series of six volumes, have been reproduced by the National Archives as File Microcopy No. 16. Registers of communications received in the Office of Indian Affairs, commencing with its establishment as a bureau in 1824, have been filmed as File Microcopy No. 18. Prior to November 1838, the series of letter books herein reproduced contained copies of communications and reports sent to the Secretary's Office, but after that date these were recorded in a separate series of volumes labelled "Reports," which it is hoped will be reproduced as a future microcopy project.

The first volume of the series, which is microcopied on this roll, is labeled on its backstrip "Indian Office Letter Book." It contains an index and 472 pages of transcripts of outgoing communications of the Office of Indian Affairs. These communications were written during the period when the Office of Indian Affairs was under the supervision of Thomas L. McKenney (1824-1830).

The index, which appears as unnumbered preliminary pages, is principally by personal names. In accordance with the practice of the period, I and J entries were made under I. Page numbers were presumably supplied at the time of transcription. It will be noted that in the margin beside a majority of the transcripts appear the words "ante" or "post," or in many cases both. The number following the word "ante" indicates the next preceding page on which a letter to the same correspondent is recorded, and the number following "post" indicates the next subsequent page on which such a letter appears. Where no numbers appear, there was, presumably, no other correspondence with the particular addressee.

In citing this volume, scholars may wish to state that the series to which it belongs is in the National Archives. An appropriate citation to a specific page in this volume is the following: Records of the Office of Indian Affairs, Letters Sent, 1:189.

The National Archives – General Services Administration – Washington, D.C. – Superintendents' Annual Narrative and Statistical Reports from Field Jurisdictions of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, 1907-1938 – Pawnee, 1910-1923

Introduction

On the 174 rolls of this microfilm publication are reproduced the annual narrative reports, 1910-1938, and the annual statistical reports, 1920-1925, submitted to the Bureau of Indian Affairs (officially the Office of Indian Affairs before 1947). These reports were prepared by superintendents of the Bureau's field jurisdictions and maintained by the Bureau in segregated files. Also included are annual narrative and statistical reports that were filed in the Bureau's central classified files during the period 1907-1909.

In 1910, the narrative and statistical data were submitted as one report. Beginning in 1911, however, the annual reports consisted of two separate parts, narrative and statistical, that were filed separately by the Statistics Section of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. For the purposes of this microfilm publication, the reports have been consolidated. The file of statistical reports (not including the 1907-1909 statistical reports in the central classified files) begins with 1920 because those for the years 1911-1919 inclusive were destroyed with congressional authorization in 1932. The narrative report was not required after 1934, but certain jurisdictions, fewer in number each year, continued to submit them voluntarily. Most of the statistical reports submitted after 1935, along with selected sections of narrative reports, constitute another series of records of the Statistics Section. These records, due to their fragmentary nature, have not been included in this publication.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs, which was established within the War Department on Mar. 11, 1824, and transferred in 1849 to the newly created Department of the Interior, administers the business of the U. S. Government relating to the American Indian. During the 19th century, the Bureau had two principal types of field installations: superintendencies and agencies. Superintendents had general responsibility for Indian affairs in a geographical area, usually a territory but sometimes a larger area. Agents were directly responsible for the affairs of one or more tribes and usually lived in the tribal areas. In 1879, the first non-reservation Indian boarding school was established at Carlisle, PA, and other schools were established elsewhere. In 1893, an act (27 Stat. 614) authorized the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, to assign the duties of Indian agent to school superintendents. This action was needed to eliminate political patronage because superintendents were now under Civil Service regulations whereas Indian agents remained political appointees. All agents were gradually replaced by superintendents who were not necessarily in charge of any school.

From 1837 to 1906, the annual reports of the superintendents, agents, and officers in charge of schools, agencies, or other field jurisdictions of the Bureau were printed as an appendix to the annual report of the Commissioner. Publication of the annual reports of the agents and superintendents as part of the Annual Report of the Commissioner was discontinued in 1907 at the insistence of the Department of the Interior. Arrangements were made to have the reports printed (but not published) by students in pamphlet form at various Indian schools where printing was taught. A number of complete sets of the annual reports for 1907, 1908, and possibly 1909, were made up and distributed within the service. There are no copies of these printed reports in the National Archives of the United States, but some typed copies of narrative and statistical reports for 1907, statistical reports for 1908, and a set of narrative reports for Indian Territory, 1908-1909, are included in the correspondence files of the Bureau. They are reproduced on roll 1 of this microfilm publication.

In 1909 a Statistics Section was established in the Office of the Chief Clerk of the Indian Office. Thereafter, all annual reports of the field jurisdictions were made in accordance with directions prepared by the Statistics Section, which was responsible for compiling the data submitted. The Statistics Section also processed census rolls, reports of births and deaths, health reports, and other kinds of reports and statistical data, and it was responsible for compiling information for the Annual Report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Each year, circulars were sent to agents and superintendents giving instructions for preparing the annual reports. The annual narrative reports, 1910-1938, document the operations and accomplishments at the agencies, schools, hospitals, and other field jurisdictions. Some narrative reports may include, in addition to the superintendent's report, separate reports by the agency physician, field matron, or supervisor of farmers. Many superintendents provided detailed historical sketches of their jurisdictions. A few ambitious superintendents took time to illustrate with drawings and poetry the activities and lifestyle of Indians in their jurisdictions. Photographs, maps, school publications, and news clippings or pages from newspapers were sometimes submitted with the reports and are filmed in this publication. The reports relate to law and order, health, land ownership, population, industries, forestry, allotments, land sales, and other subjects.

The superintendent's annual statistical reports, 1930-1935, were prepared on forms enclosed with the circulars of instructions to ensure uniformity. As the years passed the forms became more elaborate and the instructions more exacting. The reports contain separate sections on population, school enrollment showing tribal affiliation, health, agriculture, irrigation, and livestock. In 1933, the forms were revised slightly to provide statistical information on population and vital statistics, law and order, individual Indian income, land tenure, and other matters.

Also reproduced with the reports are some transmittal letters, draft notes, and other correspondence. Interfiled are some notations and correction slips, 1920-1921, originally filed as a separate series of records. Included for fiscal year 1928 are weekly census reports and monthly medical reports that in other years were usually filed among the records of the Health Division. Sometimes either the words "Inapplicable to this agency" or "Not applicable" were typed on the report forms, or the forms were left blank except for the name of the reservation and jurisdiction typed in the heading.

For the most part, the reports for the period 1907-1909 that are reproduced on roll 1 of this microfilm publication are arranged chronologically and by type of report, thereunder alphabetically by the name of agency or other jurisdiction. No attempt has been made to interfile the narrative and statistical reports. The reports for Indian Territory (Five Civilized Tribes) are arranged chronologically, but their format does not permit an alphabetical arrangement by jurisdiction. The reports for 1910-1938 are arranged alphabetically by name of agency or other jurisdiction and thereunder by year. For the period 1920-1935, the narrative and statistical reports for each jurisdiction and sometimes from year to year within a jurisdiction. Although the sections are numbered, the arrangement usually does not follow the numerical sequence. In some cases all sections within a report relating to a single tribe under a particular jurisdiction are grouped together; in other instances similarly numbered sections are grouped together regardless of the tribe involved.

The term "jurisdiction" as used by the Bureau of Indian Affairs refers to an administrative field unit whether it is an individual agency, school, hospital, or reservation composed of several agencies. The size of a jurisdiction varied greatly; some administered the affairs of several small tribes, while others had charge of a single tribe. Some tribes that were divided into widely scattered bands came under several different jurisdictions simultaneously. Smaller jurisdictions sometimes were consolidated into larger ones, and agencies and schools frequently were transferred from one jurisdiction to another. Not all Indian schools were separate jurisdictions; usually only non-reservation schools were recognized as independent jurisdictions. A jurisdiction identified as a school may have functioned also as an agency because school superintendents, as noted previously, often had agency duties assigned to them.

The appendix provides a guide to frequent jurisdictional changes and other pertinent facts mentioned in the reports. It also shows the time period covered by the reports for each jurisdiction. As indicated in the appendix, some reports are missing. Letters often were filed stating the reports were not received from the superintendents.

The records reproduced in this microfilm publication and other series of records mentioned in this introduction are a part of the Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Record Group 75. Another major series of the Statistics Section consists of Indian census rolls and supplements that contain vital statistics about American Indians. They have been reproduced as National Archives Microfilm Publication M595, Indian Census Rolls, 1885-1940.

The records reproduced in this microfilm publication were arranged for filming by Samella T. Anderson, who also wrote this introduction.

M1070.38

The National Archives – General Services Administration – Washington, D.C. – Reports of Inspection of the Field Jurisdictions of the Office of Indian Affairs, 1873-1900 – Ponca, Pawnee, and Otoe Agency, 1881-July 22, 1890

Introduction

On the 60 rolls of this microfilm publication are reproduced inspection reports from the records of the Office of Indian Affairs, 1873-1880, and the Indian Division of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, 1880-1900. These reports were prepared by Inspectors for the Indian Service and submitted to the Secretary of the Interior. The reports for the period 1873-1880 were maintained by the Bureau of Indian Affairs (known as the Office of Indian Affairs before 1947) in a segregated collection. Those reports covering the period 1881-1900, but not in the segregated collection, generally were filed with letters received in the Indian Division, Office of the Secretary of the Interior.

History and Organization

Inspectors for the Indian Service were first appointed July 1, 1873, under the provision of an act of Feb. 14, 1873 (17 Stat. 463). Until Mar. 25, 1880, inspectors were responsible to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. After that date, inspectors came under the supervision of the Secretary of the Interior. This procedural change was necessary because the 1873 act required inspectors to report to the President. Reporting to the Secretary of the Interior was, in effect, the same as reporting to the President.

The 1873 act also provided for the appointment of five Indian inspectors, one for each of five geographical inspection divisions. Appointments were made by the President for 4-year terms, and each inspector was paid $3,000.00 a year and traveling expenses. By law, each agency was visited by an inspector at least once a year, preferably twice a year by alternate inspectors. The inspectors investigated fully all matters pertaining to the conditions of the Indians and the extent to which they adopted white civilization, reservation boundaries, the use of reservation lands, the state of industry (usually the percentage of farming and cattle grazing by the Government employees and Indians), the character and abilities of the agent and other employees, school conditions, the status of agency fiscal records, and enforcement or violation of the law.

During the 1890s, many inspection reports were submitted on printed forms showing the names and titles of employees at the agency; their residence, age, sex, and rate of compensation; the nature and extent of services performed; and comments on character, education, personal habits, and qualifications or fitness for the position. Other topics covered in the written reports include the health of the Indians; the receipt of rations; the removal and treatment of Indians by agents and other officials; traders' dealing with Indians; Indian courts; building repairs; conditions of dormitories, kitchens, and dining rooms; the water supply; fire protection, and sanitation and drainage. Special reports responding to directives from the Secretary of the Interior were not uncommon. These reports concerned a wide variety of subjects but were generally related to charges or claims made by individuals against agents or employees, or changes in personnel at agencies. Inspectors could suspend superintendents, agents, or other employees and designate a temporary replacement subject to approval by the President. Inspectors also were authorized to examine all agency books, papers, and vouchers and to administer oaths for taking testimony from agency employees. Often the inspector wrote a separate report for an agency and for each of its day schools and mailed them as one unit to the Secretary. When the reports were received, clerks at the Interior Department registered each one as a separate item.

Records and Remarks

To facilitate the use of this publication, the reports from the records of the Office of Indian Affairs and those from the Indian Division, Office of the Secretary of the Interior, have been consolidated. They are arranged alphabetically by Indian agency, Superintendency, or school and thereunder chronologically by date of document. In most cases the Secretary of the Interior referred the reports to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for his information. Consequently, pages of many reports show two stamped register numbers: one number for Indian Division, Office of the Secretary of the Interior; the other for the Office of Indian Affairs. The bulk of the inspection reports, 1880-1900, were filed with the records of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, Indian Division, letters received, 1849-1907. Some reports (less than 10%) were located in the records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, letters received, 1881-1907. These reports were referred to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs but were not returned to the Secretary.

During the 1873-1880 period, the Indian Office maintained a register of the inspection reports and related letters. The entries in the register were arranged by report number assigned alphabetically by surname of inspector and thereunder chronologically by date of receipt. Many of the reports were removed from the segregated collection of inspection reports and placed with other letters received concerning the jurisdiction to which they pertained. Because these documents have been reproduced as part of National Archives and Records Service (NARS) microfilm publication Letters Received by the Office of Indian Affairs, 1824-1881, M234, they were not reassembled for this publication. The related letters concern instructions, estimates, accounts, travel, and other administrative matters. Many of these documents were filed under "Miscellaneous."

The Indian Division of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior also maintained two separate volumes of control documents, a register and an index, for inspection reports. A register 1883-1900, is arranged by name of agency or school in a geographical pattern corresponding roughly to the five designated inspection divisions. An index listing the reports received during 1880-1893 is arranged alphabetically, with entries for inspectors and jurisdictions. The discovery of many unregistered inspection reports indicates that neither volume was comprehensive in its coverage. Also among the records of the Indian Division are 11 press copy volumes of synopses the inspection report when it was referred to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Because of their limited value to this publication, the two registers and the index mentioned previously were not microfilmed. As a substitute for these volumes, the NARS staff compiled two comprehensive lists: a list of inspectors and the periods of their service (page 5), arranged alphabetically by surname; a list of inspection reports, registered and unregistered (beginning on page 7), arranged in the order in which they were microfilmed.

The inspection reports originating during 1873-1880 usually consist of one document, the basic report, which was submitted by the inspector to the Commissioner concerning a specific Indian reservation. Many of the inspection reports that were submitted to the Secretary of the Interior after 1880 were bulky, often consisting of the basic report and several enclosures. A typical sequence of documents in an inspection report file is as follows: the letter returning the report to the Secretary of the Interior from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, the endorsement page, the synopsis of the report prepared in the Indian Division, the basic report, numbered or lettered exhibits, and miscellaneous materials. Not all of these items are contained in each inspection file. Sometimes only the synopsis of a report is in the file. In addition to the aforementioned items, special reports may include a number of affidavits and transcripts of testimony from witnesses. During the course of business, enclosures occasionally were separated from the basic reports, with the result that a few enclosures have not been found. In some instances, pages were misnumbered. In other instances, some maps and news clippings mention in letters or in endorsements have not been located.

Related Records

Additional information concerning the inspectors' work for the period covered by this publication may be found in the correspondence files of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and the Secretary of the Interior. As mentioned before, many of the early inspection reports are reproduced in NARS microfilm publication M234. Letters to the inspectors may be found in Letters Sent by the Office of Indian Affairs, 1824-1881, M21, and in Letters Sent by the Indian Division of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, 1849-1903, M606.

The inspection reports and related documents reproduced in this publication are from Records of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, Record Group 48, and Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Record Group 75. Inspection reports for the post-1900 period are available in both record groups, but they have not been reproduced in this publication. The post-1900 reports in Record Group 48 cover the years 1901-1928; those in Record Group 75 cover the years 1909-1940.

- ◆ Index to Payment Roll of Old Settler Cherokees: 1896
  - The census roll was prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Treaty of Aug. 6, 1846 (9 Stat. 871). This treaty provided for the payment of certain shares from funds established by the Treaty of 1835 to Cherokee “Old Settlers” in Indian Territory either as original beneficiaries or as their legal heirs or representatives. A commission of 5 members appointed by the President from the party of Old Settlers working in conjunction with agents of the Union Agency completed the roll. The commissioners certified that the list was correct and complete. Entries for individuals include name, age, sex, address, and various identification numbers. No roll of the names of persons actually paid has been located among the records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs now in the National Archives. There is, however, an index to such a roll, and the page references in this index correspond to those in the census roll of persons eligible for payment. Entries in the census roll are arranged by agency pay number (one of the identification numbers). The index is in two parts, each arranged alphabetically by either surname or Indian name. The first part lists the names of those persons who were alive at the time of payment. The second part lists the names of those who were deceased and whose heirs were paid. There is a schedule of unpaid shares inserted in the index volume.
