ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: The only disturbing thing is that the bathhouse has no reference to WPA in the form of a shield or cornerstone. Since the appropriation is so sizeable, however, it probably did call for a bathhouse, the style of which is very much like the bathhouse at Alva and Waynoka.

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: This seems to be too elaborate of a structure for $14,000, although it is certainly the only addition to the high school that matches the time period. Also, the structure stands alone; i.e. can be identified separate from the rest of the high school, and thus warrants further consideration for nomination purposes.

According to Cultural Building forms, this structure was built in 1838. Since there was a fire in the forms (there was no such fire for Bennie, and capital school or the Armory), WPA construction is not absolutely certain.
